FRENCH CRUSHED

German Army Takes 10,000 Prisoners

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Crushing defeat of the French and British troops along the Franco-German and Franco-Belgian frontiers, with the taking of 10,000 French prisoners from the army of General Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, and the capture of several generals, with great numbers of canon, ensigns and equipment, today was reported by the German embassy here in a wireless telegram received through the Sayville, L. I., station.

The dispatch announces that an advance toward Paris is now probable, the action to be taken by a gathering in of all the German army.

ARMIES OF CZAR OCCUPY SOLDAU AND NEIDENBURG

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 25.—The occupation of Soldau and Neidenburg, two important cities of East Prussia by Russian troops, was announced today by the general staff. It was stated they had been taken after five days' fighting.

The movement culminated in the fall of Soldau and Neidenburg indicates that the Russian left wing in Prussia is attempting an attack on Allenstein from the southwest. With Allenstein in their hands or safely invested, the Russians would be able to press on toward Berlin.

The Russian forces invading East Prussia are in two main divisions, known as the Warsaw army and the Vilna army. The latter first took the initiative against the Germans and attacked them along their entire front. The result was indecisive until the Warsaw army swept around the Germans' right flank and attacked them in the rear.

This sudden blow, the general staff states, threw the Germans into confusion and forced them to abandon their positions at Mauer Lake and fall back upon Allenstein.

The credit for the Russian victories in East Prussia is due to General Sukhomlinoff, the Minister of War. Ever since he has occupied a place in the cabinet he has been striving to perfect the Russian army, and his success is evidenced by the rapidity with which mobilization was effected.

The spirit of the army is altogether different from that shown by the Russian troops in the Russo-Japanese war. Then they were sluggish and lazy. Now they are quick and willing.

The plan of campaign against the Austrians in Galicia will probably be similar to that adopted in East Prussia. One Russian army has already reached Rava, near Lemberg; another is advancing from the southeast.

It was announced today that Grand Duke Michael, the Czar's brother, had returned from abroad and would leave for the front immediately.

Map showing Russian war operations in East Prussia. Allenstein, now threatened by the Czar's troops, is but 500 miles from Berlin.

BRITISH LOSS 2,000 IN BELGIAN BATTLE.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary force on the continent, estimates the English loss in the battle in southwestern Belgium at 2,000.

ZEPPELIN DROPS BOMBS INTO ANTWERP

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A Zeppelin dirigible, six miles from Antwerp, says that a Zeppelin dirigible flew over that city early today and dropped several bombs. Two houses were destroyed and several persons killed and injured by the German. Infernal machines. A dispatch to the Evening News from Antwerp says that the German Zeppelin was later brought down by

Take 10,000 Prisoners, With Several Generals

"German troops chased French troops defeated in battles of Aug. 17 to 21," the dispatch began. "Numerous ensigns, over 150 guns, 10,000 prisoners captured at Luneville from army of General Joffre. Army dismembered. No more capable of action."

"German Crown Prince's army chased the French west of Longwy. Army of Duke of Wurtemberg marched through Belgium, north of River Smois; completely crushed advancing French; numerous guns, ensigns, prisoners, several generals captured."

BULLETINS

FIVE FORTS AT NAMUR TAKEN.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The capture of Namur and five of its forts is announced in a Berlin dispatch received here today by way of the wireless stations at Nauen, Germany, and Sayville, L. I. The dispatch says this news was officially given out in the German capital and adds that the other four forts at Namur are being bombarded and that their fall is imminent.

AUSTRIA MOBILIZES ON ITALIAN FRONTIER.

ROME, Aug. 25.—Austria is mobilizing on the Italian frontier and already has stationed 70,000 men at Trent and Innsbruck, according to the newspaper Secolo, which stated today that Austria was taking this action despite its denial of concentration along the Austrian frontier.

FEELING OF FEAR SWEEPS PARIS.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Paris is in gloom today. The admissions by the War Office that the Germans have forced the allies to withdraw from Belgium and have captured Namur and taken Nancy, Lunéville and Dieulouard have caused a feeling of fear to sweep over the city.

GERMANS ADVANCE ON ANTWERP.

ROSENDAAL, Holland, via Rotterdam and London, Aug. 25.—Thirty thousand German troops attacks Nalines, thirteen miles from Antwerp today, according to advices received here. Belgian cavalry is opposing them and skirmishes are frequent in Flanders. This indicates that the Germans are advancing to invest Antwerp.

STRENGTHEN VIENNA DEFENCES.

ROME, Aug. 25.—The military defences of Vienna and its vicinity are being enormously strengthened against possible attack by the Russians. Twenty thousand men were wounded at the battle on the Drina. They have been taken to hospitals in Sarajevo, Agram, Budapest and Vienna.

CZAR GOES TO THE FRONT.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The Central News has given out a message from St. Petersburg declaring that Emperor Nicholas has gone to the headquarters of the Russian army, which has now taken the offensive in full strength.

REPORT FRANCIS JOSEPH DYING.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Only one dispatch relating to the condition of Emperor Francis Joseph has been received during the last twenty-four hours. This was received by the Exchange Telegraph Company from Copenhagen and said the aged Austrian monarch's death might be expected at any moment.

'Advance Toward Paris'

"German troops advanced west of River Meuse toward Mauberge; defeated English cavalry brigade. Senois, Longwy, greatest part of Belgium-French frontier in German hands. Concentric advance of all German armies toward Paris probable."

It was pointed out at the embassy that this was the first mention of Paris thus far made in the official German dispatches.

CATTARO FORTS GONE

ROME, Aug. 25.—An Antivari dispatch to the Corriere d'Italia says that the Austrian commander at Cattaro has offered to surrender and is now seeking the best terms possible.

MILAN, via Paris, Aug. 25.—A news dispatch from Cattaro says that all of the fortifications there have been destroyed by the allied fleet. The Austrians did not have time before the attack to strew the Gulf of Cattaro with mines.

Cattaro is in Dalmatia, Austria-Hungary, on the Adriatic, its most southern part, so close to Montenegro that it has been bombarded by mountain batteries by the Montenegrins.

BRUSSELS PAYS $4,000,000 TRIBUTE.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A dispatch to the Times from Flushing says that $4,000,000 toward the war indemnity demanded of the city of Brussels by the Germans already has been paid.

MAYOR MUST END LIGHTING CONTRACT NOW

City Councilors Attridge, Coleman, McDonald and Watson deserve full credit for refusing to ratify the million-dollar-a-year street lighting contract.

Councilors Hallentine and Woods, who attempted to foist this measure upon the city on pretense that $400 a year could be saved over the price now paid, will find it hard to justify their action if ever again seeking elective office.

The fact that Councilor Coulthart is ill and could not be present to cast his vote against the measure, while Councilors Collins and Kennedy are members in the European war-zone, also prevented the ratification vote from being still larger.

Under the resolve introduced by Councilor Attridge, Mayor Curley now is requested to serve legal notice upon the Edison Electric Illuminating Company to terminate the existing contract, which binds the city to pay $100,000 a year for each light used in street lighting. Mayor Curley is sincerely and loudly proclaimed desirous to conserve the city's resources by efficient supervision, he will act promptly in this instance. The city's promise has passed. There must be no further delay. The citizens generally demand a far lower price for street lighting as well as a decent sanitation clause and a short term contract.

That the AMERICAN was right in its stand against ratification of the contract killed by the votes of Councilors Attridge, Coleman, McDonald and Watson, is proved by a statement received from F. W. Baird, Commissioner and Chief Engineer of the City Light and Heating Division at Cleveland, who declares that $70 a year per arc light would give the Edison Company of Boston a reasonable profit.

Based upon these figures, which are almost identical with those furnished the AMERICAN exclusively by Horrie L. Cook, director of Public Works at Philadelphia, the Curley-Baird contract just killed would have cost this city about $1,275,000 more than it ought pay during the next ten years for street lighting purposes alone.

In the face of these facts, as vouched for by electrical experts of country-wide prominence, the claim of a $400,000 yearly saving to the city advanced by Councilors Hallentine and Woods in a desperate attempt to outwit the real leaders who stood for the Curley-Baird measure, positively is too absurd for serious consideration.

McLOUGHLIN AND BUNDY MADE FAVORITES TO WIN TITLE DOUBLES AT NEWPORT

LANGFORD AND COTTON CLASH AT ATLAS A. R.

ATLAS A. A. PROGRAM.
Ben Langford vs. George "Kid" Cotton, twelve rounds.
Joe Carey vs. Dan McDonald, eight rounds.
Johnny Fallon vs. Johnny Murphy, six rounds.
Johnny Sweeney vs. Pat Madden, six rounds.

SAN FRANCISCO will receive a severe ring test when he meets George "Kid" Cotton, the famous Pittsburgh heavyweight, in a twelve-round bout at the Atlas A. R. tonight. The "Fat Kid" has been slipping during the past few years and will be fighting with his back against the wall this evening.

Langford rules a favorite in the betting, but he will have to perform at a merry clip if he is to win. San is still a deadly puncher and he will probably depend upon the power of his blows to vanquish his opponent.

The contest has aroused a great deal of interest among the fans. Langford has always been a favorite in this city and drew well when pitted against an opponent who is supposed to be near his equal.

The Cambridgeport native has not performed in this city since the last of the "White House" fight, but he is still a contender for the title.

COTTON'S ring record is as good as that of Smith. Consequently he has a high record in the ring. He is a powerful fighter, with a knockout power conceded in each hand. He was knocked out by Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh "White House" fighter, in the second round of a twelve-round bout.

COTTON will enter the ring in better condition than Langford and will give him an even better fight than he has been in Boston for the past week and a half.

LANGFORD claims he is in better condition than he has been in for some time. He has been training for a month and recently landed a knockout on a local fighter.

JOE WOODMAN, manager of Langford, is so confident of his fighter's victory that he has requested $15,000 for the fight.

THERE will be the most card of the season. The fight will be a real one, with both fighters in top condition.

CALIFORNIA promoters are trying to arrange for a fight between the two fighters in the near future.

CHIEF is also one of the few "middleweight" fighters in the world.

LUKE KELLY is the only one of the few "middleweight" fighters in the world.

Sidelights on Sports

By A. H. MITCHELL

THE Giants may talk with great confidence about winning the pennant when interviewed by the energetic baseball reporters on the National League circuit, but among themselves they are not so all-fired cock sure of it.

THE Braves will be the pennant team in one thing the popular at large will not be so devotedly thankful for. There won't be any pennants to say "I told you so."

THIS baseball year has certainly been a year of reversals of fortune. The only prediction that has come through was the prediction that the Athletics would repeat and even in this case there were many who thought. Made pitchers would not be able to stand the pace.

THE Cardinals have certainly been a year of reversals of fortune. The only prediction that has come through was the prediction that the Athletics would repeat and even in this case there were many who thought. Made pitchers would not be able to stand the pace.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 25.—The Giants still enjoy a half-game lead over the National League field by virtue of the Braves' defeat. While the champions were out, the Giants yesterday, necessitating two games with the Cardinals today, the baseball experts are busy speculating on the cause of the Giants' slump.

The War Will Force Prosperity Upon the United States

However Great Our Sympathy With Suffering Europe, We Must Realize the Fact That European Disaster Is Bound to Spell American Opportunity and Prosperity

Editorial, 1914, by the Bostonian

The intelligent American, by the use of his intelligence and keen observation of conditions and opportunities, has chances before him now that he will never see again.

Men that have been poor will find themselves rich after this war.

Industries that have been feeble will find themselves built up to amazing proportions within a few months.

The American foreign trade that has lagged behind will soon lead the world, and AMERICAN SHIPS WILL CARRY THAT TRADE if the people of this country see and seize the opportunity that Europe's misfortune offers us. The important fact is that this nation, ALONE AMONG THE GREAT POWERS FREE FROM THE CURSE OF WAR, should look up and ahead, not down or backward.

We have every possibility, every opportunity, and the right to every hope.

Our building stands intact, firm on its foundations, while others burn and crumble.

Our men, women and children are safe at home, engaged in useful labor, while the women and children of other nations tremble for their lives and their men are sent out to cut one another's throats.

While we read that in Austria every man between the ages of nineteen and sixty has been ordered to war, in this country every man between the ages of seventeen and seventy, free to do good work instead of evil, SHOULD WORK AS HE HAS NEVER WORKED BEFORE, SEIZE THE OPPORTUNITIES THAT HAVE NEVER BEEN PRESENTED BEFORE.

We do sympathize with all those that are suffering.

As Mr. Hearst said in a dispatch printed yesterday in this newspaper:

"The American people deplore this war; it is a crime against civilization; it is a reversion to barbarism, but it will be so disastrous to the nations concerned in it that it will inflict its own penalty, preach its own sermon and probably be the last great war."

"In the meantime the United States will not suffer from the war that is devastating and demoralizing Europe. The United States will benefit immeasurably."

"By pursuing a peaceful and neutral course the United States will demonstrate to the world the value of peace and the advantages that accrue to a peaceful and neutral nation."

We sympathize with all of the nations affected.

We want to help build them up when the time comes for building.

There is not a man but regrets the horrible suffering and wishes that it might have been avoided.

But the chief duty of American citizens and the American government is TO AMERICA.

Mr. Hearst has pointed out to the merchants, manufacturers, lawmakers of this country the fact that this is the day OF ENERGY AND OPTIMISM, NOT FOR REPINING OR INERTIA. Why should we be struck powerless by the wound that hit another and not ourselves?

Why should we suspend the activities that build up the individual and the nation because individual and national life is paralyzed in Europe?

This is the great opportunity, SEIZE IT.

Every man who manufactures should see two points:

First, everything we have been buying from Europe we shall now MANUFACTURE AND BUY HERE.

And those things that the European nations have been buying of each other THEY WILL BUY OF US.

And those supplies that have been shipped to South America and Asia from the nations of Europe will now BE SHIPPED BY US.

If an American were running a factory under the pressure of competition, if a dozen big factories were successfully turning out goods like those made by him and competing for his trade, SUPPOSE THAT EVERY FACTORY BUT HIS OWN BURNED DOWN.

He would sympathize with the misfortune of his competitors, BUT HE WOULD LOSE NO TIME IN DOUBLING THE SIZE OF HIS FACTORY.

Exactly that thing has happened to the great factory, the great farm, called the United States.

All our competitors HAVE BURNED DOWN IN ONE NIGHT. The men are taken from the wheat fields to drag cannon through the mud.

The mechanics are taken from their lathes to cut the throats of other mechanics, to march through dust and dirt and blood.

We alone of the great manufacturing nations remain free to continue THE WORK OF PRODUCTION.

Those that buy here in our country MUST BUY AT HOME.

Those that buy in Europe MUST BUY FROM US.

The Asiatic trade, European trade, South American trade, we shall get in hundreds of millions—AND KEEP IT.

Let the people of this country get over the stupor which follows the great world-wide excitement and calamity.

It is a calamity—but it is not OUR calamity.

It means death and long years of slow recuperation to the industries, manufactures, the commerce, the farms of many countries—but it means PROSPERITY UNDREAMED OF TO OUR COUNTRY.

Therefore, be optimistic, seize the opportunity, realize that this will be the country of plentiful money, plentiful employment, plentiful prosperity as soon as bankers and business men get their breath and start to work in America's great task to supply the whole world.

The message that Mr. Hearst has sent to the people through all of his newspapers is one that should restore confidence, and push men of real energy and courage into manufactures and enterprises of all kinds with a new zeal.

This is not a country that will fail to seize upon opportunity—the opportunity is here.

The Man with the Goods!

Copyright, 1914, by Thomas Nelson

Europe will want vast supplies of food, clothing and manufactures which can be had nowhere save in the United States. Supplying this demand will keep Uncle Sam busy and prosperous for many long years to come.

After the Wedding

After his partner agreed to join him in laying what looked to everyone as waste land, but was really valuable sand, Tom went down to the village looking for the man that owned it. Tom talked to the owner about other things, but finally asked him in a casual way what he would take for the land in question. The man laughed, saying: "Aw, that land ain't no good. What do you want it for?"

"Oh," said Tom, "it might be worth something some day. I have saved up a little money and just thought I'd take a chance on it by way of an investment."

The man smiled a very low price, and Tom bought it.

It is now two years since Tom bought the sand, and any day you can see a string of tug boats pulling lighters loaded with it into the city to a ready market. Tom made enough out of it to buy his half interest in the contract.

ing business and now has a nice little home nearly paid for, all because he saw and made use of an article other people had seen, and carefully walked over every day, without using their eyes and brains.

The same thing is happening every day in every walk of life. Look around you, for there may be a negative sand pile under YOUR feet. So, when some one else comes along and gets it, don't sit back and bemoan your fate, saying how lucky the other fellow is.

Most any fair day now you can see Jennie romping on the lawn with a little girl by the name of Betty, and a "young man" child toddles close by. And when Tom says, "Shall we go into town to-night and take a whirl at the 'white lights'?" If you listen closely you can hear Jennie say: "No, indeedy; it's heaps more fun right here at home."—H. C.

THE END.

In-Shoots

Some old gronches are mean enough to say that the most satisfactory guest is the one who does not accept the invitation.

Chin whiskers have saved many a man from looking like the son of his own mother.

A girl has to be pretty good looking to use slang in a way that does not seem disgusting.

When a hen cackles it is generally a sign that she has laid an egg. But lots of men cackle without having accomplished anything.

"No, indeedy; it's heaps more fun here at home."

Sex Equality---There Can Never Be Honor Between Sexes Until There Is Equality, and They Stand on the Same Platform

By DOROTHY DIX

WE all agree that a man is a dastard who deliberately wins a woman's heart without meaning to marry her, and that no man has a right to pay a woman marked attentions unless he does intend to marry her.

It is a cruel thing for a man to jeopardize the whole happiness and prosperity of a woman's life just because it tickles his vanity to make her fall in love with him, or because she proves a pleasant companion while he is making time waiting to find the ONE woman he intends to marry, or because her home is an agreeable place to spend his evenings in, and he likes her company.

Certainly nothing could be more unmanly selfish than such conduct, for the man who does it not only blights the woman's chances of marriage by keeping other men away, but he often fills her heart so full of love for him that it never has room in it for affection for any other man.

But what of the woman who uses practically the same thing, who uses all of her arts and wiles to win the heart of a man without intending to marry him, and who accepts his attentions and his gifts without ever expecting to make any return for them? Is she not as culpable and blame-worthy as the man?

Cannot Judge Sexes by the Same Code of Honor

Undoubtedly the woman who plays with a man's heart as a kitten plays with a ball of yarn and who leads him on with false hopes does a most reprehensible deed, but in their sentimental feelings the two sexes cannot be judged by the same code of honor, because conventions have made men free agents in the matter, while women are merely passive.

A man, for instance, pays attentions to a woman of his own volition, but these same attentions are thrust upon a woman. No matter how much she would like to have a man come to see her and take her about she cannot make him do it unless he wants to. That's up to him.

Also, by the same token, a woman has no right to presuppose a man is in love with her and wishes to marry her until he pops the question. She can't rise up and say offhand to a man, "Sir, I think that you are falling in love with me, and I don't intend to marry you, you had better quit coming to see me and spending your money on me now."

The man might retort, "You flatter yourself. You are not at all my style of woman, and I never had the slightest idea of proposing to you."

That would leave the woman in a ridiculous position, and so, no matter how honest she may desire to be, she is not at liberty to declare her sentiments to a man until he has first expressed his own.

This also is true. The idiotic convention that rules such matters does not permit a woman to go frankly and candidly forth and select her mate. She can't pick out the man she would like to have for a husband and tell him so.

All that she can do is to sit up with her fingers crossed for luck, and hope and pray that some man that she can admire and love will come along and discover her and ask her to marry him.

Men, Like Sheep, Flock Wherever One of Them Goes

Now men are like a flock of sheep. Where one goes the others follow. No man has the perspicacity and courage to go to see a girl that no other man will go to see. He follows the crowd, and this is why the girl who has only one beau has that beau taken away from her and given to the maiden who has plenty and asks her to marry him.

All women know this simple fact of masculine psychology, and so that is why girls "lead" men on, and why they snicker and smile over senile old grandpas and callow kiddies, and laugh at the dull stories of tedious boudoirs, flatter self-complacent egotists and suffer themselves to be bored almost to extinction by weary Willies whose presence makes them want to sneeze.

It is only by drawing the multitude of Toms, Dicks and Harries about them that women stand a sporting chance of somewhere among the pumber hiding the real men that they are looking for, and whom the gods may be kind enough to give them for husbands. This is necessarily often hard on some honest fellow who is really misled by the come-on smile of a woman who is not mean nor heartless, but who has been forced by convention to play the game according to the rules Mrs. Grundy has laid down.

One of the chief reasons why women should be given the right to propose, and be as free to pick out their life partners as men are, is because it would enable them to play the game of hearts fairly and squarely and honorably, and not force them to have to resort to tricks that are dark and ways that are vain, as they are now.

There can never be honor between the sexes until there is equality and they stand on the same platform.

CONTRASTS

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1914, by the War Company

A GREAT gold sun in the skies above us:
A green world about;
Fair winds out,
And a blue sea flowing,
And boats with white sails coming and going.
For the friends we love and the friends who love us,
Sing ho—ding!
Life is a goodly thing.
(The prison stands against the sky
A monument of gloom;
The dead are there who did not die,
Yet dwell within a tomb.
If Summers come or Winters go,
They do not seem to care or know,
They do not sing, they do not sing.)
que in the orchard and bees in the clover,
Lovers abroad,
And somebody singing
An old sweet air on faint strings ringing,
And off in the woodlands the cry of a plover.
Sing ho, I say—
Life is a holiday.
(The Factory offends the air
With shrill, impetuous whistles,
And little children burying there
Are lost within the walls.
It does not matter much, some say,
If bright or dark the outer day,
They do not sing, they do not sing.)
